14 Additional Astronauts in Training

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The nation has 14 new astronauts and their collegiate training broadens the capabilities of the U.S. space team.

College degrees practically broke even with advanced pilot training Friday as the Manned Spacecraft Center boosted its moon shot manpower pool to 30 astronauts.

All 16 of the astronauts selected in 1959 and 1962 are experienced test pilots but only eight of the new 14 hold test pilot certificates.

The other six new trainees are experienced jet pilots who are specialists in such areas as physics, radiation effects, reliability engineering and stratospheric radiance. One of them is the program's first doctor of science.

The National Academy of Science and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are cooperating in establishing criteria for astronaut scientists.

The first "Dr. Astronaut" is Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., an Air Force major from Glen Ridge, N.J., with 2,200 hours of jet flying time.

The doctorate thesis written by Aldrin, 33, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology earlier this year, was on manned orbital rendezvous, a space maneuver that will figure prominently in the two - man Gemini and three - man Apollo moon shots that are to follow the now - completed solo flights of Project Mercury.

R. Walter Cunningham, 31, a Santa Monica, Calif., civilian who is a Captain in the Marine Air Reserve, is completing work on a doctorate in physics at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"They will be integrated into the rest of the group," said Maj. Donald K. Clayton, the coordinator of astronauts' affairs. "I wouldn't expect any of them to fly the first Gemini mission but they will be on other Gemini flights."

The average age of the new group is only 30, compared to 32.5 for the 1962 group and 34.5 for his Mercury group.

The new astronauts include seven Air Force, four Navy, one Marine, and two civilian pilots.

The second civilian is Russell L. Schweickart, 27, Lexington, Mass., a captain in the Massachusetts Air National Guard and an astronautics engineer.

In addition to Aldrin, the Air Force officers are Capt. William A. Anders, 30, Albuquerque, N.M., Capt. Donn F. Eisele, 33, Kirtland Air Force Base, N.M., and four Edwards Air Force Base Calif., test pilots—Capt. Charles A. Bassett II, 31, Capt. Michael Collins, 32, Capt. Theodore C. Freeman, 33, and Capt. David R. Scott, 31.

New Navy members of the team are Lt. Alan L. Bean, 31, Jacksonville, Fla., Lt. Roger B. Chaffee, 28, Fairborn, Ohio, and Lt. Eugene A. Cernan, 29, and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., 34, both of the U.S. Navy post graduate school at Monterey, Calif.

Joining Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 42, as the only Marines among the 30 was Capt. Clifton C. Williams Jr., 31, a test pilot at Quantico, Va.

Books on Arkansas Presented

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE Talbot Feild, Jr. is shown presenting copies of the Historical Report Of Arkansas to Supt. of Hope Schools, James H. Jones and Hempstead School Supervisor Elmer Brown as Sheriff Jimmie Griffin shows a picture of the State Capitol with Christmas lighting and the State Highway building which are in the book. Sheriff Griffin will help distribute the books to the other schools in Hempstead County.

This project is through the efforts of Kelly Bryant, Secretary of State. After taking office in January, 1963, Mr. Bryant discovered that there was a great demand throughout the state educational system for this Historical Report of Arkansas. In taking inventory, he found over 7000 copies of the 1958 Report that had not been distributed. In checking the statutes of Arkansas, he also found that the Reports could not be distributed without a charge of $6.00 per volume.

Kelly felt that this valuable information should be distributed to the schools of our state and discussed this situation with a number of senators and representatives. They suggested that the Secretary present to them some system of distribution. As a result of their discussions, Senator McNeil and Rep. Carpenter of Clay County introduced a Senate Bill, which became Act 273, permitting Mr. Bryant, as Secretary of State, to distribute five volumes to each public and parochial school and twelve volumes to each state supported or private college or university, without charge.

This publication contains valuable information on the history of the State of Arkansas, showing pictures, leaders, early history, important dates, counties, holidays, Departments of State and some of their functions and all elected officials from territorial days through 1957.

There is one important change in the Report which is enclosed in the inside leaf of the book. The General Assembly of 1963 adopted "Arkansas" by Mrs. Eva Ware Barnett, as the official State song.

Five copies of this Report will be given to each high school in Hempstead County in the next few days.

You Just Figure This One Out

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Police aren't sure how the owner got the car to a downtown parking lot in the first place—or how thieves got away with it.

Without giving details, Ruth H. Cunningham, Versailles, reported Thursday her car was stolen from the lot.

She said it had no engine.

Two Named to Seats on Council

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Assembly elected Bolivia and Ivory Coast today to serve on the security council, but Communist Czechoslovakia and Malaysia were locked in a close contest for a third seat.

Neither Czechoslovakia nor the new Asian nation was able to muster the required two-thirds majority on the first ballot. The 111-nation assembly continued balloting in an effort to break the deadlock.

Western diplomats had predicted in advance that Malaysia would give Czechoslovakia a sound beating, perhaps even in the first ballot. The Communist country, however, polled a surprising 63 votes on the first ballot while Malaysia got 56. Seventy-two are required for election.

Ivory Coast got 92 and Bolivia 81, well over the number needed.

Since 1955 and east European nation has managed to split each two-year term for one council seat with an Asian or West European country because neither side could get the two-thirds vote needed for election to the full term.

This year the Soviet bloc told other delegations an East European nation should be elected for a full term as proof of sincerity of the new East-West thaw.

A 1946 "gentleman's agreement" by the big powers pledged one of the council's six nonpermanent seats to Eastern Europe. But after the first year, the Western powers insisted over Soviet protests that the agreement was no longer binding. The West commanded enough assembly votes to keep the Communists from getting a nonpermanent seat until 1955, when the series of split terms began.

Bolivia and the Ivory Coast were unopposed in the election today for the other two nonpermanent seats that become vacant Jan. 1. The three seats are presently held by Ghana, Venezuela and the Philippines.

The other three nonpermanent members, with another year to serve, are Brazil, Morocco and Norway. The five permanent members—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Nationalist China—complete the council.

Cites Need for Technical Schools

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas needs small vocational - technical schools in every section of the state to train persons to handle complex and technical jobs, the Arkansas School Study Council was told Tuesday.

J. C. Ruppert, director of trade and industrial education for the state Education Department, said most jobs are too complex to be learned on the job alone.

He said unprecedented emphasis is being placed by the nation on vocational education and Arkansas has followed the trend by establishing trade schools at Pine Bluff and Morrilton. Two more are authorized.

Ten such schools, strategically located, would put vocational education within 60 miles of 99 per cent of the population, Ruppert said.

Delegates to the council meeting toured the new Petit Jean Vocational-Technical School at nearby Morrilton Tuesday.

Couple Found Dead in Home

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Temple were found shot to death in their home in Warren Thursday and Bradley County Coroner John Frazier said it was a murder and suicide.

Dr. Frazier said apparently Mrs. Temple, 53, shot her husband, 54, with a .38 caliber pistol and then shot herself.

Police Chief Tommy Dunaway said the bodies were found by Mrs. Temple's son, Bobby Wayne Carpenter, 27, of Warren.

Pine Bluff to Get Sewage Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., announced Thursday that U.S. Engineers have agreed to relieve the problem of Pine Bluff's sewer outfall, which would be submerged by construction of a proposed lock and dam on the Arkansas River near Pine Bluff.

Engineers offered to aid in meeting the cost, slightly over $1 million of relocating the outfall, McClellan said.

Fulbright Would Cut Moon Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., plugged for a big cut in appropriations for the man-on-the-moon project Thursday, questioning whether "it is really worth $20 or $30 billion for the glory and prestige of being there first."

Fulbright said he thought the money could be better spent alleviating unemployment and education problems.

"I have heard nothing to persuade me that it would be a national calamity if the landing on the moon were delayed until 1980 or 1990," he told the Senate.

"I heard and seen a great deal which persuades me that our continuing neglect of deteriorating schools and rising employment would be a national calamity," he said.

Exiles May Fight to See Who'll Lead

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The next flareup in Latin America may be among Cuban exiles fighting to see who'll lead the war against Fidel Castro.

The reason: Too many chiefs, not enough Indians.

This is an impression gathered by this reporter on a four-week, 1,000-mile inquiry into reports of a new military buildup to bring down the Castro regime.

There is no firm evidence in support of these reports.

A quick, tempting conclusion is that the biggest "buildup"—all vocal—is in Miami, Fla., among the Flagler street commandos who've been charting Castro's downfall for more than three years.

Central America, however, is a big and inviting site for anti-Castro training bases. Its 174,000 nearly deserted square miles—bigger than California—could provide cover for most of Latin America's armed forces.

And within its five-nation group—Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica—are four governments which probably would welcome a chance to provide the launchpad for a new offensive against Castro. Costa Rica is the exception.

A curious aspect of the Central American scene is sharp evidence among most people of more resentment, and even hostility, toward their own governments than toward Castro. This is one of the most backward areas of Latin America.

"What? Somoza helping liberate Cuba?" exclaimed a Nicaraguan doctor wryly. "Why doesn't he liberate his country first?"

The reference was to Luis Somoza, Nicaragua's ex-president and one of two heirs to the Somoza dynasty that has ruled that country 30 years.

Somoza has injected himself into the anti-Castro ranks through a close association with Manuel Artime, political leader of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion.

Somoza says he is helping Artime and the Miami-based Cuban Liberation Committee rally all exiles behind a single standard to prepare and deliver—with the help of experts—small but effective sabotage and harassment stabs at Castro within Cuba.

The final objective, he says, will be an all-out offensive in November to establish a beachhead and provisional government that would seek quick hemisphere recognition.

The new exile raiders are being trained into tiny battle groups of two or more, according to Somoza. He emphasized training was not being carried out in Nicaragua, but "elsewhere in Latin America and some in the United States without the knowledge of the American government."

Strip Machine to Harvest Cotton

All during the week beginning October 21, weather permitting, the Southwest Branch Experiment Station will be harvesting cotton with a two-row cotton stripping machine.

Farmers interested in this new method of harvesting cotton in this area are invited to see the machine work said Calvin Caldwell, County Agent. You may go by at your convenience.

In talking about the cotton stripping machine Cecil Bittle, Assistant Director in Charge of the station, said the new method would save approximately twenty-five dollars per bale at harvest time. He also stated that under good conditions the machine would harvest a bale of cotton in thirty minutes.

In making the announcement Mr. Bittle said he would be happy to show farmers and others interested the three varieties of strip per cotton being grown on this and other experiment stations in Arkansas. He said that one of these varieties will be released in 1965 for Arkansas farmers use. The station has a total of fifty-five acres planted to these varieties.

If you are interested in seeing the cotton and the stripping machine work, you can reach the cotton area by going to Perry's Truck Stop on highway 67 east of Hope and turn north. The cotton is in the bottom area of the Spencer tract.

Woman Killed, Husband Shot

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Stanley W. Bond, 56, was fatally shot and her husband, 61, was wounded and taken to a Little Rock hospital in serious condition early today.

Sgt. L. D. Casinger of Little Rock police said this morning no reason was known for the shootings. A coroner's report had not been made.

Bond was hospitalized with two bullet wounds in the head. His wife Selma died before reaching the hospital. She had been shot once in the head.

Det. Roy Goodwin said officers found a .38 caliber revolver near Bond in the one-room apartment occupied by the Bonds.

Stage Set for Senate Fight on Foreign Aid

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—The stage has been set for a lively Senate floor fight over foreign aid.

The Foreign Relations Committee Friday assured a battle by voting to restore $700,290,000 of $1 billion the House had slashed from President Kennedy's program.

After weeks of consideration the committee approved a bill carrying authority for $4,202,365,000 for military and economic assistance abroad this budget year—only $327,250,000 less than the White House asked for.

The storm signals were unturled immediately.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who contends that the congressional and public temper is running against the aid program, predicted deeper reductions when the Senate begins debate on the measure a week from next Monday.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., old reporters he will make a fight to cut the bill back to the $3,502,075,000 voted by the House.

The committee wrote into the bill a 2 per cent interest rate on all loans abroad, to become effective after the fifth year of each loan.

Under the provision, the government must charge not less than three-fourths of 1 per cent a year for the first five years. A House provision requires a 2 per cent floor all the way. The Senate provision also requires repayment in 35 years.

Under present policy a large part of the loans to underdeveloped countries are made at three-fourths of 1 per cent for 40 years.

The committee modified an amendment it had adopted Thursday which would disqualify any government seizing power through overthrow of freely elected regimes unless the President determines continued aid would be in the national interest. The language was changed to apply the ban only to Latin - American governments.

To Be Known as Douglas-Home

LONDON (AP)—The new British leader seems likely to be known as Prime Minister Douglas-Home.

No announcement has been made as to the style Lord Home will use when he gives up his peerage, but Douglas-Home is the family name.

Such double names are common in Britain, with or without a hyphen. John Foster Dulles, known by the surname Dulles in the United States, was usually referred to as Foster Dulles here.

A Friendship Developed in England During World War II Has Been a Lasting One

By MARY ANITA LASETER
The prevailing sunny skies of Southwest Arkansas are disappointing to residents who would welcome some much-needed rain, but to two visitors from the British Isles the sun looks might good. Mrs. W. A. Lonsdale and Mrs. Doreen Mayer, who live near Birmingham, England, are the guests of Leslie Formby, Route 1, Patmos, and they say the sun was scarcely seen at all last winter in their native land.

What prompted the current visit? The story begins during World War II when Leslie Formby was stationed with the U.S. Army near the Lonsdale home. Believe it or not, the international friendship was the result of an invitation to tea.

During the war years Formby, then Sgt. Formby, and Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale (Mr. Lonsdale has died in a recent year) became close friends. In fact, the English couple unofficially "adopted" the American. He spent weekends with them, as their son was away serving with the British Navy.

He even took Leonard Lonsdale's place at the elder couple's 25th wedding anniversary, occupied his bed and spent the 1944 Christmas holiday with them. Did the two "brothers" ever meet? Yes. The British sailor and the U.S. soldier finally got together when the former was home on leave.

After the war, Formby came back to the states. He married and lived for 16 years in McKeesport, Pa. Two years ago his wife died and he returned to Southwest Arkansas where his father, L. E. Formby of Patmos, lives.

Through the years the two couples on either side of the Atlantic maintained relationship by correspondence and an exchange of gifts. Formby never returned to England, but in 1958 Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale visited him and his wife in this country. They went to several points outside of Pennsylvania, including a trip to Hope and a family reunion where the Formby family had a large picnic. The guests from England had never been to this type of gathering and enjoyed it very much.

Mrs. Lonsdale says, "America is certainly a drive-in country, from the cinema to banks." She likes the friendly reception and the warm hospitality she and her friend, Mrs. Mayer, have received at every turn since their arrival in San Francisco a few weeks ago only 16 hours after their departure from London.

When the Lonsdale visited Leslie Formby and his wife five years ago, they saw quite a bit of the eastern part of the U.S., so on this trip the folks from the British Isles went West. Besides visiting Leslie Formby's sister, they also went to see relatives of Mrs. Mayer, all of whom live in California.

Now they are in Southwest Arkansas, where Mrs. Lonsdale and her "adopted" son are renewing acquaintances. Formby was a carpenter in Pennsylvania and is continuing his craft locally. What about Leonard Lonsdale? He is continuing his father's scrap iron and metal business in England.

Who knows! The "brothers" might also see each other once again some day.

Natives Back Home for Short Visit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Fifty-nine Arkansas natives who have made their marks in other states came home Thursday for a nostalgic look into the past.

What they found was a new Arkansas, booming with industry and super highways, climbing in the arts and technology.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Winthrop Rockefeller, political opponents but teammates in an attempt to move the state forward, spoke at a banquet and reception for the visitors called "Arkansans at Large." Thursday night at the Top of the Rock Club atop Arkansas' first skyscraper, the 20-story Tower Building.

The group tours the new Arkansas Arts Center and the University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology Saturday. They'll see the Arkansas-Texas football game Saturday night. Today they toured metropolitan Little Rock, Winrock Farms at Morrilton and Hendrix College at Conway.

Faubus said the tour of Rockefeller's farms "will show you what God could have done if he had money."

Faubus said he and Rockefeller had "laid aside any differences to welcome you."

"Here is a rich Republican and I am a poor Democrat," Faubus said. "I might be getting a little weak on the 'Democrat' but I'm still emphasizing the 'poor'."

Rockefeller said he was heartened recently when Faubus indicated he might vote for a Republican for president. "But with my usual restraint," Rockefeller said, "I didn't ask him which Republican."

Rockefeller talked about the "cultural explosion" in Arkansas and said "In the 10 years I have been here, Arkansas has lost much of its provincialism."

Judge Boland B. Turner of the U. S. Tax Court in Washington remembered when he was the first president of the Associated 4-H Clubs in Pulaski County.

"When I was a boy, a trip to Little Rock was an all-day affair," he said. "But now with the city's tremendous growth, the city limits have moved out to only three miles from my home place."

Marvin Hurley, executive vice president of the Houston, Tex., Chamber of Commerce, said he was mainly impressed with the changes in Arkansas agriculture.

Civilian Chiefs in Pentagon Lose Ground

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian chiefs of the Pentagon have gone another round with the House Armed Services Committee—and lost.

At a subcommittee meeting, nine members pushed through a bill Friday aimed at what they consider is too much civilian interference with the armed services.

And there may be more rounds before the year is out in the long bout.

The committee is expected to start battering the Defense Department for a few moves made toward eliminating racial discrimination near military bases.

On the surface, the bill approved Friday would make a simple change: It would set a flat four-year term—without reappointment—for all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Under present laws, the President usually—but not always—makes appointments for two years and then reappoints the chief if he wants to keep him longer.

But the bill has more significant overtones, for it stems from a belief by some subcommittee members that there is a civilian gag on the military chiefs, a gag that could be plucked away by the security of a four-year term.

The bill was introduced, in fact, after President Kennedy had refused to reappoint Adm. George W. Anderson for a second two-year term as chief of naval operations.

Some congressmen viewed this, as punishment of Anderson for speaking his mind too freely before committees of Congress.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., approved the bill by a 9-4 vote. It goes before the full committee Oct. 29. Passage there is assured since the bill was introduced in the first place by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., powerful chairman of the full committee.

The Kennedy administration's strong opposition to the bill seemed to have little effect on the determination of Hebert's subcommittee to approve it.

Roswell L. Gilpatrick, deputy secretary of defense, testified that the administration feels the bill would tie the President's hands, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara wrote the subcommittee that the President should have free choice of his military advisors.

Hoffa Trying to Get Back Into Fold

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, the tough little giant of the labor world, is looking toward a new try at bringing his Teamsters Union back into the fold of the AFL-CIO next month.

But labor sources say his chances this year remain about the same as they have been since the Teamsters were ousted from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges in 1957—zero.

The conditions set by AFL-CIO President George Meany for the return of the Teamsters are unchanged:

1. Getting rid of Hoffa as president of the Teamsters — the world's largest union with about 1.7 million members.
2. Assurances that the controversial Teamsters will live up to the constitution of the AFL-CIO.

Hoffa, who said in Detroit earlier this week that "it is only a matter of time until the Teamsters are back in the AFL-CIO," apparently won't personally lead the new attempt at re-entry at the AFL-CIO convention in New York beginning Nov. 14.

It will come through resolutions presented by the Michigan State Building and Construction Trades Council at the AFL-CIO Building Trades meeting Nov. 6, prior to the main convention.

Building and construction trades sources predict such a resolution would not get enough support to get to the floor of the AFL-CIO convention the following week.

There are other ways in which a pro-Teamsters resolution could get to before the main convention, but one well-placed source said "as long as Meany is president of the AFL-CIO and Hoffa is President of the Teamsters, he (Hoffa) won't get back in."

ROCK HUSSON A GATHERING OF ANGLES

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Churches lost their prophetic garb by remaining quiet during the struggle for Negro rights, a Negro pastor told a meeting of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders Wednesday night.

Rev. Negall Riley, pastor of the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church, said much of the struggle for freedom is over while the church and the synagogue have maintained their conservatism, their bigness and success.

Riley spoke at a discussion sponsored by the Little Rock Conference on Religion and Human Relations.

Discussion groups talked about how much the church and the synagogue could promote racial equality in education, housing, employment and public accommodations.

Recommendations are to be announced later.

Other speakers included: Edwin L. Hawkins, principal of Little Rock Horace Mann High School; the Rev. William Wilcox, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church; Dr. Solomon Hill, president of Shorter College and Rev. Allen C. Anderson, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Hawkins said until recently, Negroes had not shared in Little Rock's prosperity from industrial growth. He called for hiring of Negroes in state agencies, at all government levels and in private business.

Wilcox said only one Little Rock motel is integrated and pointed out that the motel where the Greater Little Rock Ministerial Association meets is not integrated.

Hill said city, federal and state agencies still promote segregated housing.

More Negroes Being Used in TV Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—An interesting addition to television this season handled without emphasis, is the presence of so many Negro performers.

All network programs have been using Negro actors and actresses in increasing numbers during the past couple of seasons, but usually in minor roles—policemen, judges, members of crowds.

Many have noted the change and compared it with the situation of a few seasons back when a series set on the Mississippi River in the Civil War period managed a whole season without showing a single Negro, even in crowd scenes.

One of the funniest Dick Van Dyke shows was an episode involving a suspected baby-switch. A pair of attractive young Negroes were prominent in the proceedings.

"The Defenders," which along with the old "Naked City" series has always used Negro actors, will star actor-playwright Ossie Davis, playing an assistant district attorney, in its Nov. 9 episode. "East Side, West Side" on Nov. 4 is to tell a tragic love story about a young married couple, Negroes, who lose their baby. That series, incidentally, makes frequent, unostentatious use of Negroes.

"The Nurses" has had Negroes playing feature roles, and next Wednesday's "Eleventh Hour" stars Diahann Carroll as a nurse.

Bud Collyer, off CBS' "To Tell The Truth" with a leg ailment, will resume taping shows next week. During his absence, various performers substituted as host. Particularly effective was Orson Bean, whose offbeat sense of humor worked so nicely that he'll moderate next week's daytime shows.

NBC's "Espionage" series, which got off to a rather soggy start, turned up with a good suspenseful show this week and is a series to keep an eye on.

Students Jailed in Korean Plot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Five university student leaders were arrested in a raid before dawn today on charges of plotting against the military regime of President — elect Chung Hee Park.

Metropolitan Police Director Chung Woo-shik said the students had planned a "large-scale antigovernment demonstration."

Park narrowly won South Korea's presidential election this week.

Determined to Get Into Space Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Donald K. Slayton, the astronaut who missed by a couple of heartbeats of being one of the first Americans to vault into space, is quitting the Air Force to try to win his space wings as a civilian.

Slayton, 39, is understood to have taken the step because the Air Force grounded him for an erratic heart rate although the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has assured him of flying status.

A NASA spokesman said that Slayton, who was the only one of the seven pioneer astronauts not to ride into space, will be allowed to take part in missions as long as he is with someone else.

This would clear the way for "Deke" to get off the ground in the program aiming to land an American on the moon. Stepping stones on this road are flights in the two-man Gemini spacecraft and then in the three-man Apollo designed to land on the moon. No more solo flights are planned.

A NASA official said Wednesday night that Slayton will continue as astronaut activities coordinator—a job he's held since being grounded—and also will be a civilian astronaut.

All the original astronauts were military pilots. Nine military and civilian trainees were added last year.

Howard Gibbons, spokesman at the Houston Space Center, said Slayton mailed his resignation to the Air Force a week ago with a letter explaining his belief that he could be most effective in his job as a civilian.

Prospects Dim for Rain and Relief

CHICAGO (AP) — Prospects appeared dim today for immediate general relief from the severe drought and forest fires across wide areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington said the five-day forecast indicated little or no rain. It also said in its 30-day forecast extending to Nov. 15 that precipitation is expected to continue below normal in the eastern quarter of the nation, except the Southeast.

There was a ray of sunshine in the Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast. It said above average rainfall was expected in the Central section and in most areas west of the Continental Divide and seasonal rains in other parts of the country.

Hundreds of fires are burning in forestlands and woodland areas in the Northeast, with New York State the hardest hit. Fires also have burned over thousands of acres of woodlands in sections of the Midwest and South. The fires have blackened thousands of acres in more than a dozen states.

The extended spell of dry, mild weather—up to nearly two months in some parts of Indiana—has caused extensive damage to property and crops. No over-all damage estimate was available. But it was expected to total many millions of dollars.

Water supplies dwindled in many areas, including New York City and other major cities. Restrictions have been ordered in many small communities and in rural areas.

Scores of rivers and streams were at low levels. Shallow wells were reported going dry in New York State, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma and in other sections of the drought belt. Kentucky has had little or no rain in six weeks. Stockmen in the Great Plains are hauling water to livestock.

Officials in several states have ordered the closing of several forests and woodland areas. Smoking and campfires have been banned in many of the tinder-dry forestlands.

Boots go around the clock this fall. Dressy suit boot (top left) in finely grained calf and has cardigan opening for after-five wear. You can go as high as you like in boots. Heavy black grained leather boot (top right) by Capezio has back lacing from knee to mid-thigh. Limb-hugging high boot, called the beanstalk, (lower left) is in red patent leather, with black stacked heel. Above-ankle western boot (lower right) is in natural waxy leather, by Golo. Perfect example of the town look for late fall (far right) is black anbretha reversible hip-length cape, worn over a smooth leather sheath dress. Bright red patent boots add touch of color.

Now that Win and Val were both dead, Todd had been released from the necessity of secrecy concerning Win's crime. But Todd had said at the beginning of tonight's talk, "I've lied to you, but there's no need for it . . . for most of it." There still was need, then, for him to go on lying about some of it?

"I had just handed you three thousand more, Todd. Val was already out on the bay. Why didn't you wait until morning to give the money to her?"

The question did not disturb Todd. "Yes, there's that to add. As I told you, Val had been drinking; she'd worked herself into a vicious mood. She's been brooding over the Mannings and why the sale of the house and the boat had fallen through. It threw her into a savage fury. She called Tessa on the radio-telephone—fortunately when Tessa took the call, Win and the judge were in the workshop—and repeated her threats."

"Tessa phoned me right away, panicky again, and begged me to get Val sobered up and calmed down."

Blake had heard Todd taking that call.

"Well, I had the three thousand and something else besides. I'd been to a lawyer in town—naturally I couldn't come to you for this, kid—and I'd had an agreement drawn up. Win and Tessa had already signed it. If I could make Val realize that this was the best she could hope for, and get her signature on it, it would go a long way toward getting the matter worked out. I thought the sooner I tried the better, so I used the catboat."

"You knew what would happen if Val dragged Win into court," Blake said. "Your wife's father would be disgraced, sent to prison, his life ruined. It would hurt Ruth and Tessa very badly, and everyone else who was close to Win. Your own father's reputation would be damaged. The integrity of this fine old man would be questioned—either he had let the court be hoodwinked or he had let personal influence corrupt it. Dirty politicians would ask how much his cut had been. He might be investigated. At the very least he'd be under a cloud; he'd feel obliged to resign. It would tear him to pieces inside. For all these reasons Val had to be stopped. And the only way to stop her was to kill her."

"That much is right," Todd said quietly. "The only way to stop her was to kill her. I told you last night, frankly, I'm glad that unmerciful she-devil is dead."

Todd walked along the pier toward the sea wall. Blake called after him.

"Todd! That's not all."

Todd paused, looked back, then turned again without answering and walked on through the darkness.

The next morning Blake reached his office later than usual. Vera Avery, her straight-spined back turned toward him, was peering away at her typewriter. Jean was at her desk, using the telephone. She said to him, "Here he is now," then to Blake—with a firm but unreadable strangeness in

HONORS FOR 'E-NEWSPAPERBOYS'

Three more outstanding Americans have been given places in the Newspaperboy Hall of Fame, an honorary institution which recognizes the extraordinary proportion of newspaperboys who achieve distinction in the nation's economic, social and professional life.

U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Clark, Danny Thomas and Astronaut Lieut. Col. John Glenn are the new members. They join such distinguished company as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former President Herbert Hoover, poet Carl Sandburg, Francis Cardinal Joseph Spellman, Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, Walt Disney, Duke Snider, J. Edgar Hoover, Bing Crosby and Eddie Rickenbacker.

All these famous Americans, and many others (58 had been chosen for the Hall of Fame prior to this week's inductions) were chosen from the ranks of today's successful business, government, entertainment, sports, military, science, religious and educational leaders who were newspaperboys in their youth and who have become nationally famous in their chosen fields of endeavor.

While the claim has never been made—even by the most enthusiastic circulation managers of newspapers—that youngsters who deliver papers are bound to succeed, the newspaperboy background of so many famous men is more than a coincidence.

The rigorous self-discipline which inspires the lad to rise and shine at an hour when other youngsters are sleeping; or which keeps him on the job in the afternoons and evenings when others are kicking footballs or playing catch, springs from built-in ambition and determination. The successful newspaperboy has already proved that he can "take it" when he has completed his education and is ready for the larger fields of life.

Furthermore, the training he has received in operating his own little business—in making collections, soliciting new subscribers, answering the inevitable complaints and keeping his books in order—gives him an insight into the business world and the free enterprise system which is invaluable in later life.

Question a successful man and, chances are, he will say with pride that he carried papers when he was a boy. If you get up early enough, you can see one of tomorrow's leaders when he pauses at your doorstep to leave you tomorrow morning's copy of The Herald-Dispatch, the Tri-State's leading newspaper. —The Huntington, W. Va., Herald-Dispatch

"It's a bad shock for all of us—and almost the end of everything for Tessa."

"Blake — You're in a terribly bad spot, aren't you?"

"Lee Barcello doesn't waste time. You know he's been investigating me. For reasons—I admit."

Poles Want to Expel Arkansans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department confirmed today that Communist Poland has asked that two military attaches of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw be sent home.

The department denied, however, Polish charges that the two had engaged in any improper activity.

They are Cmdr. James A. Baxter, naval attaché, and Maj. Edward P. Stefanik, assistant military attaché. Their removal is automatic.

Baxter, from Van Buren, Ark., has virtually completed a two-year tour of duty in Warsaw. Stefanik, from Chicopee, Mass., has been assigned to the post for 18 months.

There was no official announcement of the charges against them. Informal sources in Warsaw said the two were accused of receiving documents from Poles.

Got His Dream, Then Tragedy

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Some kids dream of becoming star athletes but Robert Paris' childhood dream was to be a state policeman.

"He wanted to join the state police ever since he was a child," his father, Ralph M. Paris, said. "I was rather pleased about his choice of career since I'd been in a similar type of work myself (a fireman and policeman). We refused to be afraid of possible harm to him."

Paris joined the state police in 1959, and was promoted last Oct. 1 to probationary detective. Thursday, Paris and trooper Robert J. Forenski were ordered to a motel to investigate two burglary suspects. The trooper's took up positions at the motel to await the suspects.

A short time later, shots pierced the air. Forenski ran toward the sound. As he got there, two men sped off in a car.

Paris lay dead at the age of 28. He left a widow and two daughters.

EVERYTHING FIGURED OUT BUT ONE

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My work brings me in contact with highly placed professional people as well as the lower class workers. The majority are either unhappily married or divorced.

Perhaps some of my observations on these cases may help others. Here is the usual pattern of marriage today:

1. Boy and girl date.
2. Boy and girl marry.
3. Couple buy furniture and or house.
4. First baby arrives.
5. Husband forced to spend time away from home to support family.
6. Baby starts to walk, wife is swamped by the constant supervision she must give baby to keep him from killing himself or wrecking house.
7. Husband resents fact that wife is overworked and exhausted.
8. Disenchantment sets in. Monotony of daily life becomes progressively worse.

Tension seems greatest when the child or children are between one and three years old. During this period, an understanding husband will help with the chores or keep the children from murdering each other while Mama cooks dinner or catches up on mending.

The critical husband usually sits glued to the TV set when not nagging his wife. She naturally feels he hates her and she him. The husband then starts dating other women and the put-upon wife, other men. By now the merry-go-round is whirling. When the extra-curricular romance has been lengthy, the husband is doubly anxious to dump the wife.

Second marriages run into the problem of coping with his children, her children or both sets. This can be fatal. However, the second wife has the advantage over Spouse Number One. But there is still the question of alimony and child support—a nasty problem at best.

Here, may I interrupt to say that I know a few couples who have experienced all these depressing problems, yet have emerged happy. Each was 21 or older and did not have their first baby until their third year of marriage; each enjoyed traveling, sharing new experiences

Goldwater Foes Miss a Prospect

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Liberal Republicans casting about for a candidate to stop the whistling progress of Sen. Barry Goldwater toward the 1964 presidential nomination apparently have lost a prospect.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went about as far as a politician could be expected to go Wednesday in saying that he not only is not a candidate for the nomination but would buck any effort to draft him.

Scranton did an uncertain waltz on the draft question. At first he said he would respond to "an honest and sincere" call. But he added that it is impossible to launch any draft without connivance of the candidate and "I would step in and stop it."

Pressed on this point by newsmen, he nailed it down with a second declaration that he would stop any draft in its tracks.

Scranton said he still is available as "a favorite son for Pennsylvania"—but not as a candidate—if by mid-1964 his state's Republicans think their 64-vote delegation ought to go uncommitted to the nominating convention.

There have been strong indications that supporters plan to put Goldwater's name in the state's April 28 primary. This is strictly a popularity contest, not legally binding on the convention delegation. But few think the outcome would be ignored by the delegates.

Scranton's reluctance to get involved in the nomination contest was explained by associates on the ground that he is heavily burdened by state problems and is on only the first lap of a four-year term.

If Scranton is out, that seems to leave Gov. George Romney of Michigan as top prospect in a potential stop-Goldwater movement.

So the Goldwater people will be watching closely when Romney makes one of his rare trips to the East to speak at the Oct. 25 dinner of the New York Board of Trade in New York City.

This is billed as a non-political affair. But the gilded audience will include some heavy contributors to Republican campaigns in the past.

there, two men sped off in a car.

Paris lay dead at the age of 28. He left a widow and two daughters.

and good times, but still followed a down-to-earth savings program for house and children. Neither magnified the other's eccentricities, though both tried to help one another overcome bad habits. So much for my observations.

I thought that when I married I would live happily ever after; believed that such a union would give me new freedom, independence, job, security and the opportunity to accomplish something worthwhile.

I believed that the reason a man and woman married was to create a better way of life together than alone. I thought that the proper preparation for such a life was to decide what type of a job the husband should have and, if he lacked the training, the wife should help him get it.

Next on the program was to settle upon where to live and, if the wife should work too. There was no such partnership or planning in my marriage. I tried hard to be flexible and agreeable.

My parents were divorced. Because of their bitter, interminable quarreling I was determined to make a success of my own marriage. My husband also came from a broken home and thought he felt as I did. Now, six years later, after four pregnancies and three children, he has decided to take a younger wife. Why?

It's a rough life but the wonderful part of it is that we always have a chance to change things for the better. —Ever hopeful

Dear Ever: Your observations are all too true. Perhaps the panacea lies in the one word I failed to find in the account of your own marriage—Love!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Appointment of Fire Chief
FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A petition filed Tuesday in Fort Smith Chancery Court asks that the Fort Smith City Commission be ordered to appoint Hubert Neff to the post of fire chief. The petition was filed by attorney J. Sam Wood in behalf of Neff, former assistant fire chief.

Mayor Bob Brookshier and city commissioners Lloyd McDonald and Hugh Brewer were named defendants in the petition. Neff, 63, was retired after the commission adopted an ordinance changing compulsory retirement age from 65 to 62. Prior to his retirement, Neff was the only fireman eligible for the post vacated Aug. 30 by the resignation of R. L. Rudd.

Thought For The Day
If thou wouldst be justified, acknowledge thine injustice. He that confesses his sin, begins his journey toward salvation. He that is sorry for it, mends his pace. He that forsakes it, is at his journey's end. - Quarles said it.

Fairview Tries Hard But Bobcats Post Win

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

It was a sad day in Fairview as the mighty Cardinals struck out. The Bobcats took their sixth win in a row in a come-from-behind victory, 19-15, in what will surely be the best and hardest fought game of the season.

Fairview certainly deserves a lot of credit. Their team played well, and they played rough, but never did they show even the least sign of slowing down. They were able to move on the ground, a thing that very few teams have done against the Cats. They were probably the toughest 4AA team Hope will have to face.

With seven minutes left to play, Fairview took the lead for the first time, 15-13, on a 14-yard run by Teel. But the calmness and poise of McLarty, when under pressure, and the crushing yardage of McDowell turned the trick, and put the Cats ahead 19-15. But then it was up to the defensive unit to keep the Cards off the score board. And keep them off they did. Everyone did a great job, but some outstanding work by big Jim Walker especially shone through. And Dan Jones made some fine stops, too. The courage of the Red team was the real key to it all, though. Coach Burton described the last drive as "terrific. They showed real class."

It was Homecoming for the Cardinals, just as it was for Hope last year. They came out really fired up, and ready to take on anybody. They would have been just as enthusiastic if they had been taking on the N.Y. Giants. They were ready to play some ball.

They took the kick, and moved it from the 16 to the 50 in a matter of a few plays. But here the Cat defense stiffened, so they decided to punt. But Dan Jones and Harry Ray McMahon charged through gaps in the line to put the rush on the punter. Dan reached him first, and blocked the kick. The ball started bounding around changing hands among Bush, Jones and McMahon. Finally Harry Ray got things under control by falling on the pigskin at the 8. On the first play from scrimmage, it looked like another Malvern. Mac McLarty rolled out to the left and tossed it to Burnett for the score. Jordan kicked the point after, and the Cats were out front 7-0 after only 4 1/2 minutes of play.

It didn't bother the Cards a bit. They came back, and on repeated penetrations of the Bobcat forward wall, moved all the way to the Hope 5 but a big 15 yard penalty set the Tweeters back on their heels, as they stalled on the 14. The quarter passed, with the Cats still out front 7-0.

Late in the period, the Cards turned a Bobcat fumble into a tally. In five plays they went from their own 49 to the Hope 23, where Bobby Bush threw a long bomb to Roger Wright, all by himself at the goal. He turned and stepped over. This was the first TD against Hope in the last three games. Jerry Burnett rushed in to block the try for PAT, and Hope managed a very slim lead of 7-6 at Halftime.

When play resumed, the Cats began to show the old style. Runs by McDowell powered a 60 yard drive capped by a 1 yard McLarty plunge. Hope now sported a 13-6 lead.

Fairview mounted a drive that lasted into the Fourth Quarter, but an interception by George Wright, Jr., stopped it on Hope's

There is a Way

BUT it is not the way this man has been going. He forgot to read and heed the word of God, "Wealth maketh many friends; but the poor is separated from his neighbor." Pro. 19:4. His bank account is bulging but his troubled heart is empty. His earth is without form, and void, and darkness is upon his face. Jesus told us, "A man that hath friends must shew himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Pro. 18:24. It isn't by way of wealth, fame, or fortune, but by the way of God. To this man and to all of us He is constantly repeating the most glorious invitation of the centuries... "Take My Hand."

The strong hand of a warm friend pressed upon his shoulder will help but what this man needs is to seek the counsel of a minister and join up with the forces that work for a better world through Him.
